

CONTENTS

Foreword.	v
Preface Andrew Marshall	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction Strategy, The Missing Link in Our Fight against Proliferation Henry D. Sokolski	xiii
Part I How Might Competitive Strategies Help against Proliferation?	1
1. Competitive Strategies: An Approach against Proliferation David J. Andre	3
2. Competitive Strategies as a Teaching Tool Bernard I. Finel	27
Part II How Competitive Are U.S. Efforts against Proliferation?	49
3. Nonproliferation: Strategies for Winning, Losing, and Coping Henry D. Sokolski	51
4. Nuclear Nonproliferation: Where Has the United States Won—and Why? Zachary S. Davis Mitchell B. Reiss	65
5. Counterproliferation: Shy of Winning Thomas G. Mahnken	97
Part III Iran: Two Competitive Strategies.	109
6. Fighting Proliferation through Democracy: A Competitive Strategies Approach toward Iran Kenneth R. Timmerman	111
7. Dual Containment as an Effective Competitive Strategy Patrick Clawson	133
About the Authors	159